

Mosquito Range Heritage Initiative (MRHI) is a grassroots community-based 501(c)3 organization based in Alma. Since 2007, MRHI has been working to protect the wild lands of the Mosquito Mountain Range. Due to the unique geology, the Mosquito Range supports alpine plant communities found nowhere else on earth including many rare and threatened species. However, with easy access to four peaks over 14,000 feet for which visitation increases each summer, diverse mineral resources, and extensive opportunities for off-road vehicle recreation, this area's natural systems are at great risk of degradation.

As a member of the trails maintenance team, you will help maintain, repair, and build trails within the Mosquito Range to ensure protection of wildlife habitat and water quality, as well as to improve recreational access. You will also help educate the community about mountain recreation and leave no trace concepts.

Specific duties include:

- Building trails with gravel or native material, restoring impacted areas, and replacing signage as needed;
- Collaborating with volunteers, nonprofit partners, and school groups for trail maintenance, education and reconstruction projects;
- Preparing construction materials, ensuring proper tool maintenance, and reporting on completed projects;
- Conducting condition and prescription surveys to assess the condition of trails and plan projects accordingly; and
- Overseeing routine maintenance of trails at dispersed recreation sites, including cleanup and naturalization.
- Hosting recreation events such as hikes or mountain biking to help more visitors explore the mountains safely while limiting their resource impact.

Position averages 32- 40 hours per week. Estimated start date: May 23rd-June 1, though some hours may be available earlier for training or school programs. Four-wheel drive vehicle required. First-aid/CPR or Wilderness First Aid preferred. Minimum $18-$20 hour.
